MISSION STATEMENT

THE COLLEGE HOUSES ARE RESIDENTIAL COMMUNITIES FOR PENN UNDERGRADUATES THAT:

• Connect the academic life of the University with the residential experience.

• Develop smaller, intimate communities that students call home and from which they can more comfortably navigate the complexities of a large university.

• Provide academic and personal support to residents.

• Promote social interaction, engagement, accountability and leadership within a setting that honors the diverse needs and backgrounds of the population.

The University of Pennsylvania values diversity and seeks talented students, faculty and staff from diverse backgrounds. The University of Pennsylvania does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, religion, creed, national or ethnic origin, citizenship status, age, disability, veteran status or any other legally protected class status in the administration of its admissions, financial aid, educational or athletic programs, or other University-administered programs or in its employment practices. Questions or complaints regarding this policy should be directed to the Executive Director of the Office of Affirmative Action and Equal Opportunity Programs, Sansom Place East, 3600 Chestnut Street, Suite 228, Philadelphia, PA 19104-6106; or (215) 898-6993 (Voice) or (215) 898-7803 (TDD).
Penn has had individual College Houses for almost 50 years, but it wasn’t until 1998 that every dormitory space was converted into the living-and-learning model that students who lived in places like Du Bois College House and Van Pelt College House (now part of Gregory) had been thriving in for years. From its inception, the foundational idea of the College House system has been intellectual engagement: extending the active “life of the mind” that Penn fosters beyond the classroom and into living rooms. In the College Houses, intellectual life matters. Here’s how we do it.
College House residents do far more than eat, sleep, play, and study. They learn. Each House provides countless occasions for residents to get to know the faculty, staff, and student leaders who are their neighbors in the House. By living in a College House our residents have opportunities to collaborate with other residents; improve their language, writing, math, and other skills; plan and lead House activities; write newsletters and market House events; attend in-House performances; oversee program budgets; manage a student IT team; or mentor their peers. For those who participate in their College House communities, learning just happens; it’s the inevitable result of the daily interaction of residents and engagement with the activities around them. This sort of informal learning is an intentional outcome of our mission. Here are some of the ways we do it.

WE CONNECT THE HOUSE COMMUNITIES TO THE INTELLECTUAL LIFE OF THE UNIVERSITY.

- Residents are exposed to a range of disciplines and backgrounds through the Faculty Director, House Fellows and House Dean. To learn more about their diverse fields of study and expertise see www.collegehouses.upenn.edu/staff/expertise.
- We provide group tickets for campus events and renowned speakers.
- Academically-themed Residential Programs within the Houses have links to such distinguished departments as the Fels Institute, Film Studies, Civic House, Weiss Tech House, and the Greenfield Intercultural Center.

WE CREATE THE ATMOSPHERE OF A SMALL LIBERAL ARTS COLLEGE WITHIN THE UNIVERSITY’S EXCITINGLY LARGE RESEARCH ENVIRONMENT.

- Our College House faculty, often pre-eminent in their fields, are nevertheless approachable and enjoy engaging with their residents.
- Student researchers receive guidance from House faculty on writing a research proposal and can apply for House research fellowships of $1,500. The Research Fellows present their work in symposia and other forums, and in turn advise other residents about Penn’s research opportunities.
- Emphasis on community building in each House helps create a sociable home base.

WE SUPPORT OUR RESIDENTS, ACADEMICALLY AND PERSONALLY.

- The Tutoring Center offers help in several Houses with Math, Econ, Chemistry, Biology, and other subjects each semester.
- Houses provide advice on graduate and professional schools, internships, careers, and fellowships, and House Deans provide in-House academic advising.
- Group study spaces encourage students to learn together.

WE FOSTER LEADERSHIP AND ACCOUNTABILITY, BUT ALSO CIVIC-MINDEDNESS, TEAMWORK, AND OPPORTUNITIES TO COLLABORATE.

- Awards such as the College House Deans Integrated Knowledge Award, the Lucid Award, and the Du Bois Endowed Scholarship are bestowed on residents with notable academic achievements and community-mindedness.
- Houses with a Board of Managers have a strong leadership team overseeing every aspect of the House, from oversight of cafés to the creation of science competitions.
- House Councils or Steering Committees play different roles across the Houses – advising staff on the allocation of funds, the creation of programs, intramural activities, and more.
COLLEGE HOUSE FACULTY AND STAFF

Every College House has a live-in team of faculty and staff who work to keep the life of the House community engaged in the intellectual and social life of the University as a whole. These scholars and their families become part of the College House community and enrich the life of all their residents.

FACULTY DIRECTOR

The Faculty Director of each College House is a prominent professor appointed by the Provost to live in residence. As neighbors of students, these professors offer immediate contact with Penn’s renowned teachers and scholars. Faculty Directors provide academic leadership for the House.

COLLEGE HOUSE FELLOWS

College House Fellows are appointed to live in the College Houses to strengthen the connections between the Houses and the intellectual life of the University. Members of the standing or adjunct faculty of one of Penn’s twelve schools, or members of Penn’s senior academic staff, they have regular teaching, advising, and mentoring relationships with undergraduates.

HOUSE DEAN

The House Dean is the single most important administrator in the residential community. House Deans serve as academic advisors, active participants in group events, and trusted friends. House Deans direct the House office and hire and supervise the GAs, RAs, and House Managers. Many of the Deans hold advanced academic degrees and provide leadership by serving on key committees across the campus.

HOUSE COORDINATOR

Each House office is staffed by a full-time non-resident Coordinator who supports the operation of the House and provides invaluable assistance to the Dean and all of the residents.

GRADUATE ASSOCIATES (GAs) & RESIDENT ADVISORS (RAs)

Each House has a diverse team of graduate students, or Graduate Associates (GAs), selected from the University’s doctoral and professional programs. GAs bring their experiences as advanced students to the life of the community and also offer special expertise in their fields of study. GAs sponsor or join in the numerous academic and co-curricular activities of each House. Equally important is the undergraduate team of Residential Advisors (RAs) who advise and support the programming initiatives of the community. The peer support offered by an RA can be a wonderful resource for new students looking for guidance from someone close in age and outlook.
RESIDENTIAL PROGRAMS

For many students the idea of living with a smaller community of people who share a culture, lifestyle or interest is very appealing. At Penn, designated floors or sections of the Houses are called Residential Programs. The potential for an enriched residential experience is limitless with so many topics to explore together. Students apply for these programs when completing their housing application; most require essays at the time of application. Information about applying to upperclass residential programs is available at https://www.collegehouses.upenn.edu/life/upperclass.

SIGNATURE HOUSE PROGRAMS

Some Houses have traditional programs that are informal or club-like in their relaxed approach to bringing people together. No essay or application is required and the groups are not necessarily based on a floor or cluster of rooms. Four examples include: Du Bois FIT, Du Bois Cultural Production and Political Power, Rodin’s Sophomore Surge, and the Knitting Circle at Ware, which are open to all House residents, and are typically led by an enthusiastic, knowledgeable RA or GA.
SPOTLIGHT PROGRAM

WENDY AND LEONARD GOLDBERG MEDIA & COMMUNICATIONS PROGRAM AT GOLDBERG HOUSE

The Wendy and Leonard Goldberg Media & Communications Program, nestled in the westernmost end of Fisher Hassenfeld College House in the Quad, is open to students in any major or academic field and provides ample space to live and work. The program is physically situated at the heart of a complex of buildings surrounding the beautiful Bluestone Courtyard – Foerderer, McKean, Baldwin, Class of 1887, and Craig – known collectively as Goldberg House. The beautiful Foerderer archway marks the entrance of the program, and the nearby Goldberg Media Lounge serves as the principal public space. Named for film producer Leonard Goldberg and his wife, Wendy, the program draws members who share an interest not only in film, but for all forms of communications media, including broadcasting, publishing, journalism, digital media, marketing, and public relations, and political communication. This program is designed for students who have a broad academic interest in mass media and communications, ranging from the advertising and mass media industries to television and film portrayals of particular groups to the ways in which digital media impact society. Activities in this program include attending events featuring prominent individuals in the media world, engaging in critical discussions about mass media and culture, watching riveting documentaries, and connecting for fun social events. In the spring semester, there is a “dinner and a movie” film series that highlights superb documentaries and films.

GOALS: This program provides interested students with an opportunity to engage in critical thought around the issues of mass media and to think about and discuss the ways in which media affect individuals’ thoughts, attitudes, and behaviors as well as our society as a whole.
For most students, the Penn experience is the first time they’ve lived away from home. For some, it’s the first time they’ve lived so close to so many other interesting people: fellow students studying everything from developing economies to the art of the Tang Dynasty, faculty and professional staff from across the University’s range of disciplines, and the families that those faculty and staff bring with them into the Houses. Our residents are not left to drift alone in the sometimes overwhelming world of academia: in the College Houses, relationships matter. Here’s how we build them.
BUILDING RELATIONSHIPS

GET TO KNOW YOUR RA OR GA

Your first and best point of contact with your College House staff is your RA or GA. Every floor, section, or hall in the College Houses has a Resident Advisor or Graduate Associate assigned to live there and serve as a resource to the residents they are responsible for. An RA is a junior or senior in one of Penn’s undergraduate schools, and a GA is a graduate or professional student from one of the graduate schools at the University.

Regardless of whether you have an RA or a GA, this person has been trained by College Houses & Academic Services to serve as a resource person, advisor, counselor, and community facilitator for all the residents of their House. RA/GAs know when and how to refer students who need specific help to appropriate University services. They can help you resolve issues or problems with a roommate or other person on your floor or hall. They can help you figure out ways to balance your academic life with all the other aspects of your Penn experience. RA/GAs create programming in the Houses, facilitating educational, cultural, social, and recreational activities. They can also help you create events you want to see happen in your own House.

GET TO KNOW YOUR ROOMMATES AND FLOORMATES

Even in the most private communities like the high-rise apartment-style Houses, you won’t be living alone at Penn. Your House will house hundreds of other Penn students, and forming good relationships with them will make your time in College Houses a much better experience! Your RA or GA will arrange events and opportunities to get together with the other residents, and taking advantage of these low-key, fun events is a great way to meet your neighbors and keep life in your area fun, friendly and smooth. And if you have an idea for a fun activity that can bring your floor, hall or section together, suggest it to your RA or GA. You won’t regret taking the time to get to know your fellow residents and to build community, whether it’s over cookies, TV or late-night board games.
ROOMMATE RELATIONS

HOW TO PREPARE TO BE PAIRED

A year in a College House goes fast, but there is plenty of time to build a strong relationship with your roommate(s), whether to lay the foundations of a lasting friendship or simply develop the stable partnership necessary for a harmonious living arrangement.

Finding out where they are coming from, both literally and figuratively, is an excellent place to start. Where is home? How did they spend their summer? What do they intend to study, and what extracurriculars might they participate in this year? What are their hobbies or passions, their favorite music, films, books, food, games, or sports teams? Where have they traveled, or where would they love to go? With some comfort level, you might discuss family, religion, or past or current relationships. In the process, you might discover that you have much in common; but do not be surprised—or alarmed!—if there is a great difference as well. Penn students are from all over the world, from very different backgrounds; your roommate might be of different ethnicity or faith, and their lifestyle, dietary habits, and working hours might be markedly distinct from yours. One of the best aspects of University life is that you are exposed to a wide range of people, and one of the most important learning experiences you can have at Penn is learning to co-exist with those who seem different from you—a key life skill you will need after graduation! After covering some big picture items, be sure to discuss matters that will impact your day-to-day life: comfort level with guests (particularly overnight); sleeping schedules; interest in sharing food items, supplies, and technology; plans for keeping the room clean.

ROOMMATES = BEST FRIENDS?
NOT NECESSARILY

It is important to keep your expectations in line with reality. Successful relationships of any kind do not require nor do they hinge on individuals within those relationships to become best friends. The same is true with roommates. It is highly likely that a majority of students would not identify their roommate as a best friend and yet still consider their relationship to be a very positive experience. This is often because roommates have invested time in learning about each other’s background and interests and build upon this foundation by exhibiting respect for each other’s needs. Keep in mind that you and your roommate(s) have the freedom to decide who your best friends will be, and if it is not each other that is perfectly fine!
IT’S IMPORTANT TO NEGOTIATE EXPECTATIONS EARLY IN THE ROOMMATE RELATIONSHIP

ADOPT A “WIN-WIN” STRATEGY

It is important and even imperative to start early to think about negotiating an accommodating and comfortable living space for you and your roommate(s). One has to keep in mind that a win-win strategy for sharing a space with others is the best insurance for successful living. Here are a few pointers on how to proceed:

• Contact your roommate(s) before moving in and get to know each other
• Make your own list of all the factors that would make your living arrangement with others harmonious. Arrange the items on the list by order of importance to you.
• Suggest to your roommate(s) the same idea and ask them to make up their own list
• One has to be thoughtful, respectful, and sensitive to others’ living arrangement needs in order to establish a trusting relationship with roommates

DON’T ADOPT A “FIRST COME, FIRST SERVED” STRATEGY

The day you arrive to your College House and enter your room, don’t settle immediately in the ‘best corner’ of the room. First, consult with your roommate(s) and then work together in making decisions on how to occupy the space most efficiently. This could be your first ‘homework’: to find the best arrangement possible of the furniture in the room and to create the most agreeable living environment in the space.
CLEAR AND OPEN COMMUNICATION IS OF KEY IMPORTANCE

After you have shared ideas about the living arrangement in your room, the next step is to consolidate the plans you have made in a form of a roommate agreement. The purpose of a roommate agreement is to keep open your lines of communication about issues and concerns as they arise in your living space. It is a tool that allows you to make use of the university policies to work out compromises for comfortable living and for preserving a lasting relationship with your roommate(s). A few tips to keep in mind:

- Ask your RA/GA for a roommate agreement form to start the process
- You RA/GA should keep a copy of the agreement and could serve as a coordinator of the process and when needed as a mediator to find the best compromise
- Don’t discuss your roommate problems with others when you have not discussed them with your roommate first
- Don’t direct accusations towards your roommate based on an assumption or hearsay before inquiring about it directly with your roommate
- Remember that you have a lot of support in your College House. Use the RA/GA, the House Dean, the Faculty Director, and the numerous resources on campus.

APPRECIATING DIFFERENCES AND BEING OPEN TO THE EXPERIENCE

Living together involves blending lives and lifestyles. You may be living with a roommate who has very different traits, values, and habits. Your roommate most likely grew up in a different family, was educated in a different school, formed a different set of friends, and developed a set of values, beliefs, opinions, and habits that are different from your own. Living with a roommate gives you the opportunity to learn from someone very different from yourself. You should look at your living experience as another chance to learn about negotiation and compromise. It’s likely that you’ll learn a great deal about yourself while learning about someone new. Be open to the background and life experiences of your roommate, and be willing to share who you are in return. Living with someone new is not always easy, but who says it has to be hard?
The college academic year will expose you to a whole new set of challenges. From the intensity of meeting hundreds of new people during move-in and orientation, to the possibility of spending major holidays away from your family for the first time, to ending the academic year and saying goodbye to friends who have become your family, the year will bring many different new experiences your way. At Penn, you will feel that you will be in a constant state of mid-terms – that will be your reality! You should recognize that during your most challenging week in the semester, your roommate may have an easy week, and vice versa. The most important reminder is to continue being respectful to your roommate during this time. If you think about the academic year chronologically, you can recognize some of the stressors that might be most impactful:

• Move-in and Orientation (it’s stressful to meet hundreds of people!)
• Classes begin (it’s likely you’ll be a bit more busy than you’ve ever been before)
• MID-TERMS!
• Finding new friend groups and clubs (as you find who you are at Penn, you and your roommate could grow apart, or you could grow closer)
• Thanksgiving (for many students, this might be the first major holiday away from family)
• FINAL EXAMS!
• Winter Holidays (many students will visit family for the first time in the year...this may cause added stress)
• Spring semester begins (it can be difficult to readjust to life back at Penn)
• Fraternity/sorority recruitment (maybe you join the same organization, or not... or neither of you join one. Regardless, it can be a stressful time)
• Making housing decisions for next year
• MID-TERMS!
• Winter in Philly (it can feel like it lasts forever...)
• Spring Break (finally)
• More MID-TERMS!
• Spring Fling, Hey Day, and the end of school (it’s a great social time, but you still need to be thinking about your academics)
• FINAL EXAMS!
• Move out (it can be stressful too... and it’s hard to say goodbye, but you made it through your year at Penn!)

An academic year for a college student seems like it might be long, but it goes by quickly. Continue respecting your roommate and keep the lines of communication open. If you do this, you’re sure to have a great year!
DON’T FORGET TO GET TO KNOW PEOPLE ACROSS CAMPUS TOO!

The best—and most conveniently located!—resource for roommates in residence is their GA (Graduate Associate), Resident Advisor (RA) or House Dean. Not only are these House staff members skilled listeners and problem-solvers, but they are knowledgeable about the wealth of additional resources available on campus. Other key resources on campus—whether for mediation, assistance in coordinating life schedules or understanding and embracing diversity—include the following:

You have to try hard to get bored at Penn, given the huge variety of activities on offer. On any given evening on campus, you’ll find dozens of speakers, club activities, social events, concerts, sporting events and a host of other ways to keep yourself active and engaged with the Penn community. You’ll discover that many of these events take place right at home, sponsored and hosted by members of the House communities we build every year. In the College Houses, participation matters. Here’s how we make opportunities to get involved.
WAYS TO GET INVOLVED

Each of Penn’s 12 College Houses has distinctive attributes that set it apart from the rest—unique facilities, philosophies, traditions. But on a fundamental level, they are all communities where students not only live alongside faculty and administrative staff, but take an active role in utilizing those facilities, deepening those philosophies, and maintaining those traditions… while building new ones, of course. The College Houses are not strictly top-down organizations, where the elder statesmen make all the decisions, but rather interactive neighborhoods in which residents of any class year passionate about their new homes away from home can make their mark, now and for the future. The leadership opportunities vary from House to House, as befits the way each has evolved over the years; some have House Councils, in which students are elected by their peers as spokespeople for their hall or suite; Stouffer has a steering committee that meets regularly to oversee the budget and make decisions on programming; and New College House offers a number of House Collectives, in which students can share (and debate!) ideas around topics like research, sustainability and diversity.

If running House events is not your thing, there are plenty of other opportunities to be active and present in the community. Each House has an Information Technology Advisor team, who staff computer labs, loan out laptops, get new students online and help with tech issues. Some Houses have cafés where residents serve up much-needed caffeine at all hours; others have office staffs, where residents lend out equipment, manage facility reservations and answer all sorts of questions from their peers.

Not that you need to have such a prominent and potentially time-consuming role in your House to play your part; the easiest way to get involved, to get to know your housemates (including the faculty and staff) and to familiarize yourself with your surroundings is simply to participate in the endless assortment of events happening every week. Check out the calendar on your House website, or track down the GA or RA on your hall to stay abreast of what’s on the table in the coming days, whether the goings-on are tailored for your individual hall, for a residential program, for the entire House, or even as part of a campus-wide initiative; for example, you can join your Housemates to compete in the College House Cup, or enter your own masterpieces in the Penn Student Film Festival. The College Houses are not meant to be generic dorms, to feel like impersonal apartment buildings; they are vital, thriving communities, and to take full advantage of them you can’t be passive. Your first step is to venture out to see what’s happening—we guarantee you there’s a lot.

In Gregory, a diverse group of managers runs weekly social events, invites guest faculty in for dinner conversations, and hosts film screenings and discussions as part of our Film Culture Residential Program. We are always surprised to find that the most popular manager positions are those that involve the most work—particularly in the kitchen, baking up scrumptious desserts for our weekly study breaks and Bring Your Own Mug! get-togethers. It makes sense; the fastest way to get to know everyone in the House is to be the bringer of sweets! As we are a Four-Year Community, Gregory structures our student involvement over the long haul. For example, the students who were the most active and enthusiastic participants as freshmen in our Film Culture Program may return to the program the following year as Managers—selecting the films for a weekly screening series and co-hosting the post-screening conversations with the Dean or House Fellows. But we make sure even our newest students have some opportunities to hit the ground running when they arrive, and in Penn’s First-Year Communities like Hill, where all the students are in their first year, such immediate involvement is par for the course.

— DR. CHRISTOPHER DONOVAN
Gregory College House Dean

In Hill, we care deeply about integrating first year students into a community that will ultimately launch them into a successful career at Penn, and beyond. We live in a space that was quite literally built to connect people to one another, and we take that very seriously. We also have a lot of fun in the process! In fact, we are currently preparing to roll out the red carpet to welcome our 500 stars to “Hollywood Hill.” Why Hollywood might you ask? Well, we see the reopening of a College House as the perfect opportunity to expose our students to the bright lights of Penn but also to go behind the scenes, to look at what the city of Philadelphia has to offer through our four pillars: Empower. Explore. Engage. Express. We cannot stress enough that this is the year for Hill to redefine itself and build a legacy. All we ask is that our students help us write the script!

SIGNATURE PROGRAMS

In addition to the huge variety of events each individual College House hosts every semester, the Office of College Houses and Academic Services supervises a quartet of programs that span the entire College House system. These “Signature Programs” are open to students in every House, and participation is solicited during the school year, so you don’t have to make a commitment before you’ve had a chance to settle in. Whether you’re more comfortable combing the library to prepare for a research presentation, practicing for the flute concerto you’re planning to share with the House community, wrapping up the final edits on your short film, or spiking the ball over the net for the last point, the College House Signature Programs offer plenty of opportunities to share your talents, creativity and flair with your friends, neighbors, and the Penn community.

COLLEGE HOUSE RESEARCH PROGRAM

At Penn, undergraduates do research too! Each College House selects a College House Research Fellow who is given academic and monetary support to pursue an 18-month research project of their own design. Under the active mentorship of their House faculty, the Research Fellows also present informal research events in their Houses and present their findings at Penn’s Annual Undergraduate Research Conference during Quaker Days.

My name is Ivana Kohut and I am a Junior in the College majoring in Medical Anthropology and minor in Chemistry and Hispanic Studies. My research work today is an analysis of Cuban healthcare and culture, specifically the ethics, use, and efficiency of the Maternal and Primary Care systems delivered to women in Cuba. The resources and people in the College Houses have definitely been helpful to me in my research. Thanks to the funding and support, I have been able to travel to Cuba twice to conduct research for several weeks at a time. If it were not for Penn I would not have been able to visit Cuba. In addition to the financial support, Penn has also given me a lot of intellectual support and has truly helped me learn how to not only devise successful projects but also how to analyze data, how to conduct ethical research in the field, and how to tell stories in such a way that the telling gives justice to the interviewees and their realities.

— IVANA KOHUT, C’18
MUSIC IN THE HOUSES

The Blutt College House Music Program is a joint initiative of the College Houses and the Department of Music that provides partially subsidized private musical instruction to undergraduate students while bringing professional performances, master classes, and other musical events of the highest quality to the Penn community. Combining the exceptional musical talents of its instructors with the convenience and community of the College Houses, the program also sponsors College House Music Fellows, undergraduates who undertake a musical project on behalf of their House community.

Being a College House Music Fellow required a lot of time and energy, especially since this semester was the busiest one during my time at Penn, but it has been worth it in so many dimensions. It has been an opportunity to rekindle my somewhat faded passion for classical piano, as I found it difficult to find time for lessons or chamber sessions while performing my military service. It has also been a new opportunity to play side-by-side with a violinist, which is something I had not done before. The preparation, marketing and logistics of creating the College House performance is what especially differentiated this concert from previous concert experiences and has instilled me with a new perspective on performances.

— SIMON OH, W'17 EAS'17

FILM AND CINEMA

In addition to the Film Culture residential program housed in Gregory College House, every year the College Houses host the four-evening Penn Student Film Festival featuring short films by student filmmakers from across the University and capped off with a gala screening of the top films. Penn students in the Cinema Studies Program as well as those from other disciplines are welcome to submit their work each year in any genre, and the winners are judged by a panel of cinema experts. The top three films win cash prizes and an audience favorite is awarded as well. Last year’s top film, ei: emotional intelligence by Dennis Kim, can be viewed online at www.collegehouses.upenn.edu/filmfest.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS

Residents of the College Houses can compete alongside their housemates in events like football, soccer and volleyball, testing their skill and athleticism against teams from other Houses. The intramural sports contests at Penn culminate in the year-end awarding of the coveted College House Cup to the House that emerges victorious.

At Stouffer College House, the College House Cup is taken seriously. We field teams for every intramural sport and face off against other College Houses for intramural championships. Whether it’s ultimate frisbee, football, volleyball, or any other sport, we leave it all on the field. Our team captains, who are just students who have shown interest in leading teams for a specific sport, rally the troops on game day and lead the team on the pitch. Win or lose, there’s no better bonding experience than forming a team with your friends and competing for your House. Different sports draw different people, and many friendships are forged over the course of the season. At Stouffer, intramural sports have led a lot of people who would not have met under ordinary circumstances to become close.

Besides the school-wide IM league, I make sure that we have plenty of sports-related activities in the House as well, including Stouffer’s annual Super Bowl party, weekly boxing, and more. Overall, these events help to strengthen the Stouffer community, which is already tight-knit.

WHERE INTELLECTUAL LIFE, RELATIONSHIPS AND PARTICIPATION MATTER.

FOUR-YEAR COMMUNITIES
Du Bois, Gregory, Stouffer and New College Houses in many ways represent the ideal College House experience. Residents have a much greater chance of getting to know one another on a deeper level, of building lifelong friendships and forging closer bonds with the residential faculty because their resident populations range from 180 to 350 and include members from all four academic years.

FIRST-YEAR COMMUNITIES
Fisher Hassenfeld, Hill, Kings Court English, Riepe and Ware Houses are predominantly populated with first-year students ranging in size from 350 to 540 residents; what many consider to be traditional style first-year residence halls. The House architecture varies greatly; however, all offer new students a tremendous opportunity to create new friendships and to engage with the House faculty and staff.

UPPER-CLASS COMMUNITIES
Harnwell, Harrison and Rodin Houses each provide residential opportunities for approximately 800 sophomore, junior and senior students; each of these high rise Houses enjoy apartment-style living arrangements. High-rise apartment living tends to be more independent, though faculty and staff here are nothing short of miraculous in hosting events that bring the community together both intellectually and socially.

Each College House contains many common areas available to all residents for casual interaction, study, and a variety of other purposes. In general each House contains: multiple lounges, computer labs or smart study spaces, community printers, exercise/fitness/gaming rooms, library or dedicated study spaces, meeting rooms and larger multipurpose rooms, film or television viewing areas, and mail delivery areas.
“CELEBRATES ITS RICH MOSAIC OF ENGAGED STUDENTS”

Established in response to student demands in August 1972 amid protests and accusations of self-segregation, Du Bois College House has persevered and thrived in its mission to support students of the African Diaspora by serving as a hub for activities that promote African and African American scholarship and culture. Its unique history and legacy instills a sense of pride in both its residents and alumni. This pride is evidenced in the physical environment of the House, in the spirit of the residents, and in the generosity of alumni who still consider Du Bois their “home away from home.”

Du Bois hosts an annual series of events highlighting current issues pertinent to the Black community and provides leadership with community service initiatives like the ASE program, through which Du Bois undergraduates have mentored local sixth and seventh graders for the past sixteen years. Our residents don’t stop serving the community once they graduate, either: through the Black Alumni Association (BAS), our alumni have made generous donations to the House, including an endowed scholarship that financially supports four students each year.

Du Bois College House offers every resident the opportunity to learn about cultures other than their own. We celebrate and recognize the diversity of our residents with annual events such as the Chinese New Year Celebration, the African Cultures Celebration, Natives at Penn’s spirited, traditional spring Pow-Wow, and Makuu’s annual Kwanzaa Celebration.

The smallest of the College Houses, Du Bois provides a close-knit community. This sense of intimacy is maintained through the many house-wide events put on by the House Council and House staff. We also place priority on offering our undergraduates off-campus activities that will enhance their knowledge of the City of Brotherly Love, such as movie and theater outings, trips to restaurants and museums, and tickets to concerts and sporting events.
“ONE OF THE SMALLEST AND COZIEST HOUSES”

Gregory College House is a time-tested and proudly idiosyncratic alternative to the larger College Houses. As the first House to incorporate live-in faculty, to offer academic credit for living-learning programs, and to organize student-run computer support and student-spearheaded event calendars, Gregory is old in tradition but new in condition, having received a full renovation in 2015.

Gregory is a unique mix of the private and the social; all residents have plenty of breathing space when they need it, but no community offers as many opportunities for students to hang out with their neighbors at regular social get-togethers. In the piano lounge of Van Pelt Manor you will likely see students dining with a visiting faculty member; like all events at Gregory, these are intimate, casual get-togethers, an entirely different experience than in a classroom. Next door our state-of-the-art Cinema Lounge will be showing a classic film or contemporary blockbuster on its giant screen, with a staff member on hand for follow-up discussion. Meanwhile, over in the Class of 1925 building, participants in our Modern Languages Program will be conversing animatedly in Arabic, French, German, or Mandarin in our spacious greenhouse or yoga studio, or in Spanish while making plantains and arepas in the adjacent kitchen... and then everyone will switch back to English to take a break for free coffee and a ping pong match at the Darkroom Café, or to gather for The Walking Dead in the TV lounge.

These students are a mix of all years and backgrounds, and they come together at weekly gatherings like Tuesday Bring Your Own Mug and Sunday brunch, do some collective cooking for the International Dinner or Progressive Dinner, cheer or boo at the Oscar and Super Bowl parties, bond through adventure on paintball and whitewater rafting trips, and never experience a night where they cannot find company.

“A COMMUNITY OF CITIZEN SCHOLARS”

If you could write a page in Penn’s history, what would you include? What story would you tell? As a resident of New College House, you get to answer these questions and more as you join a community in the first College House built on campus since 1972.

Your life at Penn begins as you move into your spacious suite. You decide how to set up your single room and are eager to meet your suitemates—each in their own rooms. One of them has a great idea for where to place the couch in the suite’s common room. Another shares your interest in world politics, and you definitely want to learn more about their recent travels abroad. In New College House, you’ll find a balance of personal space and community living in your “home away from home.”

Venturing out of your suite, you soon discover plenty of spaces to hang out with friends or study. In the dining hall, you look for a place to sit and Faculty Director Cam Grey invites you to join him and his family. As you sit with Cam, his wife Ann, and their children, you not only learn about Cam’s expertise in Roman history and some of the newest undergraduate research projects, but are invited to an energetic game of tag by their daughter! Cam tells you about some upcoming house events, like a Research Symposium, architecture tour of Old City, and workshops on time management, study skills and healthy living, and you know you’re about to be a part of some cool opportunities in your new home.

While hanging out with some friends in the House living room, an RA who’s returning from orchestra rehearsal stops by, which gets the group talking about their different musical talents. You suggest getting a group together to jam in the practice room. Everyone thinks it’s a great idea. Empowered and motivated, you are full of ideas for the next chapter in the story of your new home at Penn.
“NOTHING COMES CLOSER TO HOME”

What is Stouffer College House? Stouffer is waking up one fall morning and feeling that carpeting under your feet as you head off to the shower. On your way to the bathroom you check in with Dylan to find out about the study session tomorrow.

One shower later, you’re back at your room and you see that TJ wrote a message on your dry erase board. TJ’s your new friend and the only person you’ve ever met who has the exact same Netflix queue you do, though you’ve had plenty of Red Sox vs. Yankees arguments and debates about whether David Tennant or Matt Smith was the best Doctor. You’re thinking you’ll try to get a suite together in Mayer next year – funny how Stouffer College House is actually two buildings. The idea of your own bathroom, kitchen, and common room is appealing, especially if TJ’s chili is as good as TJ claims. But you would miss the vibe in this weird maze that is Stouffer-Stouff... as everyone calls it.

Once you’re dressed, you check your email. As always, it’s a ton of messages from Stouffer-Announce, the House listserv that any resident can post to. Looks like the Steering meeting is tonight! You go every week to listen to the ideas the other residents have for trips, projects, and other spending proposals. You have a pretty good idea you think you’ll pitch next week. Stouffer is the only College House that allows residents that much say in how money is spent and you really like that. After Steering, maybe you’ll just hang out in the lounge—a couple of Stoufferites are planning a late night Settlers of Catan session.

Huh, you think, this is exactly what you were hoping college would be like. Stouffer’s motto is “Nihil Domo Similius” — “Nothing comes closer to home.” Sure, they borrowed that from the frozen food company, but still, it sounds about right. This isn’t just your House. This is your Home. It’s Stouffer.

“BE PREPARED TO PARTICIPATE”

Head down any of the historic hallways in Fisher Hassenfeld and you are bound to run into a lively group headed to the lounge for pancakes and a movie, a faculty resident, or students on their way over to say ‘hi!’ Around here, we are known for our care and concern for one another, our ties to the surrounding Philadelphia community, and our shared interest in leaving the world better than we found it.

Fisher Hassenfeld is home, where you will make lifelong friends and learn new things about yourself and others. What makes FH so special are the diverse and energetic people who choose to live here and participate as curious and respectful community members. Residents can feel at home by throwing a frisbee or kicking a soccer ball around in the upper Quad, or stopping by their RA/GA’s room to seek advice or eat a late-night snack.

In Fisher, we explore famous, hidden aspects of Philadelphia together, and we encourage you to push yourself out of your comfort zone. We truly believe in becoming active global citizens, while also making positive contributions to the community around us. Be sure to take advantage of our many excursions which center upon experiencing the cultural, historical, and recreational riches of Philadelphia.

You will come to experience many aspects of life at Penn, but residents of the Fisher Hassenfeld community always look forward to coming home after a busy day of classes and campus activities. Whether it’s outdoor movies, weekend brunches, bonfires with s’mores ‘n more, seasonal BBQs, math or biology tutoring, or writing help from our faculty-in-residence “Paper Doctor,” Fisher Hassenfeld blends fun, learning and conversation in a relaxed and friendly community. Join us in Fisher Hassenfeld, where we help to develop the talents and interests of our students!
“THE MOST SOCIAL HOUSE”

Hill House is a vibrant residential community with a special commitment to first-year students. The House Dean, Faculty Director, House Fellows, Resident Advisor and Graduate Associates are dedicated to providing residents with personal and professional assistance to successfully transition to University life both intellectually and socially. Internationally renowned architect Eero Saarinen, whose design concept was grounded in the idea of a small village, self-sufficient, inward-focused and protected, designed Hill House with spaces that foster communication, collaboration and community. Students are drawn to this community for the sense of belonging and personal relationships fostered by the architecture.

At Hill College House, we care deeply about integrating first-year students into a community that will ultimately launch them into a successful career at Penn, and beyond. We live in a space that was quite literally built to connect people to one another, and we take that very seriously. We also have a lot of fun in the process. Case in point: this year, to commemorate Hill’s first year back on campus after renovation, we’re rolling out the red carpet and dressing to impress, so just call us “Hollywood Hill” and look for our stars shining brightly across campus!

Hill rests on four pillars: Empower. Explore. Engage. Express. These pillars drive the programs and events we offer inside and outside of our house, on and off campus, that define our community. At the center are our 500 Hollywood Hill stars—YOU! This is the year for Hill to define itself. Let’s build a legacy together. Help us write the script!
“A RICH, FULFILLING EXPERIENCE”

Penn Alumni frequently reminisce about their fond memories of Kings Court English College House, one of the University’s best-kept secrets. Tucked snugly away in one of the campus’s most vibrant corners, KCECH offers students a rich, fulfilling experience fostered by the caring and close-knit members of its community.

KCECH houses five remarkable residential programs: STWing, Biosphere, PIH, Huntsman and WICS. These programs have a profound impact on the House identity, drawing some of Penn’s most diverse students. When not studying or engaging in extracurricular activities, students can be found meeting and discussing with Penn faculty in the dining hall, gardening and planting flowers outside, participating in cultural performances in our common spaces, and perhaps most importantly, taking part in their very first family at the University. Kings Court English College House is a safe “playground” full of possibilities for fun, friendship, peer learning, and leadership skills. It also constitutes a laboratory that fosters debate, knowledge integration, and intellectual growth.

Join in regular House-sponsored activities such as Sunday brunches, cultural dinners, Penn faculty talks, language tables and study breaks, cultural exhibitions, student concerts, trips, and intramural games. Our students take the lead in generating and running most of the events such as the Rube Goldberg Competition, Robotics Fair, Lecture Series, Penn Author Forum, Garden and Library Clubs, and Tech Times. In our House, follow your passion and you will make a difference!

KCECH consists of two separate houses, English House and Kings Court, connected by our award-winning courtyard, one of the community’s most beautiful and historic green spaces. Adorning its outdoor walls are murals by the world-renowned artist, Isaiah Zagar, known for his vibrant and colorful mosaics. On the rooftop, KCECH hosts one of Penn’s first green roof projects and a cozy café and lounge for students to relax and interact with their peers.
“GOOD FOOD, GOOD COMPANY”

Veritas et Honestas, which translates as “Truth and Honor,” is the official Riepe College House motto; however, “good food, good company” is how Faculty Director Dennis DeTurck likes to portray the vibe at Riepe College House, and the phrase has since become its unofficial motto.

In fact, Riepe faculty and staff pride themselves on their welcoming spirit. Our event calendar always features a nice mixture of home-cooked and catered comfort food dinners, study breaks, Sunday brunches, pancake breakfasts, and outdoor picnics and barbecues. Prof. DeTurck offers informal math tutoring and fresh-baked cookies in his apartment. Prof. Ralph Rosen and his wife Ellen host Sunday Espresso hours, featuring home-roasted coffee, espresso and cappuccino. Dr. Amy Stornaiuolo and her husband Vincenzo, a chef from Sicily, host regular pasta dinners and occasional cooking lessons. Dr. Marilynne Digs-Thompson, House Dean and Anthropology lecturer, and her staff are famous for hosting weekly comfort food study breaks, picnics and seasonal theme dinners.

Riepe residents also participate in many off-campus events. This fall will include a trip to see the musical “Wicked”, tickets to the opening night concert of the Philadelphia Orchestra at the Kimmel Center for the Performing Arts, Phillies baseball at Citizen’s Bank Park, a Philadelphia 76ers basketball game at the Wells Fargo Center, and several local soccer matches.

However, for many Riepe-ites it is simply their life at “home” that makes their first year experience so warm and so much fun. There are House social events such as midnight brunches during Reading Days and final exams and long-standing house-wide traditions such as the late summer Baby Quad picnic and the Holiday Foods Fest— along with yummy study breaks and a myriad of other “pop-up” events. Whether it is achieved through casual exchanges, at-home get-togethers or organized study groups, Riepe has a social ease that helps residents bond and thrive.

“A VIBRANT INTELLECTUAL HUB”
This is it! Your home for the next year!

WARE — You will meet your first friends on campus! A stroll through a hall or out on the lawn might take you past the future maid of honor at your wedding, your partner in that next great startup, the friend you’ll name your child after, or the first person to break your heart.

WARE — You’ll have some of the most fun you’ve ever had. Whether its hanging out in a friend’s room, shooting pool in MOBO, or tossing a football on the lower quad, you’ve found a great place to relax and enjoy your new life. And you’ll find no shortage of organized activities as well, from our weekly Dinner With Interesting People to Ware Night-Ins to Sunday Night Sundaes. And you’ll have plenty of chances to step beyond the gates too, with trips to shows, museums, theme parks, ballgames, and more.

WARE — You’ll learn how to live on your own. College House life is a new experience for you and just about everyone around you. If something is confusing you or even scaring you, we guarantee there’s someone near you who feels the same way. So don’t be afraid to ask for help and support. You also might make some big, big mistakes. But, hey, mistakes are how we learn. We have rules here, and you might break one or two. We only ask that you take responsibility for your actions, and your choices, and that you face the consequences with maturity and a desire to grow. We don’t bite. Honest.

WARE — You’ll learn about yourself. From little things like “what’s my favorite hoagie at Wawa” to big questions of sexuality, politics, identity, and how you relate to the world around you, you’ve begun a journey that will change your understanding of who you are and what you’re doing on this planet. If you walk out of Ware the same person you were when you walked in, well... one of us is doing something wrong.

Welcome home, new neighbor! Let’s have a great year!

“LIVE WELL AT HARNWELL”

Named after Gaylord Probasco Harnwell, Penn’s president from 1953-70, our high-rise College House cultivates friendly, open communities in which cultural and intellectual exchange is balanced by civility and mutual respect. Enriched by the Cultures Collective, Ancient Studies Residential Program, and Arts House Residential Program, we feature a wealth of artistic and inviting endeavors and a House calendar filled with engaging activities.

Our Rooftop Lounge (RTL) is a premier space on campus where we host our House traditions, such as weekly Probasco Family Dinners, as well as our annual Sapphire Ball and Casino Night. The RTL is also home to resident-led programming, such as yoga, fitness bootcamps, and study breaks. On our mezzanine, you will find the Café du Soleil, and the Library and Computer Lab, both located on the first floor, offer the options of cozy study nooks with quick access to computers and our ITAs. A versatile basement called the “Dungeon” serves as a small gallery and recreation room, while also housing two practice rooms – one of which boasts a recently reconditioned Steinway piano. You can find eight more pianos throughout the House, along with a dance gallery and an a capella practice room.

Beyond the building, our home is defined by its people. Intelligence, integrity, and initiative are the hallmarks of not only our residents, but also RAs, GAs, and Managers. Their dedication and kindness set the tone for our caring community. Our Intramural team, the Harnwell Bowties, exemplifies House spirit – Bowties have more fun! With a dynamic Senior Staff at the helm, unique opportunities to interact with residents abound – such as providing research guidance, extending invitations to dine in faculty apartments, and surprising residents with pop-up events.

What does it mean to live well at Harnwell? It means becoming part of a House that’s a home, where you can grow and contribute holistically as you pursue your intellectual endeavors at Penn. Live well. Live well at Harnwell.

“A BIG HOUSE WITH A BIG HEART”

Harrison College House brings Penn home to its residents to effect the seamless integration between education in the classroom and the life beyond. The house with the largest number of residents and student staff, Harrison is a big house with a big heart, waiting to partner with student groups throughout Penn’s campus.

Through the regular Dinner and Conversation series, Harrisonians invite their favorite members of Penn’s faculty into the house to meet students in a relaxed, convivial setting. Table Talk Conversations, organized through Penn’s International Affairs Association, invite faculty members for discussions and debates on topical issues. Departments throughout campus partner with Harrison to showcase the work of their students and foster a greater sense of collaboration between students and faculty.

Harrison Saturday Night events provide opportunities for Harrisonians who wish to stay close to home on any given Saturday night a low-pressure opportunity to socialize with events ranging from Quizzo hosted by the House Dean, arts and crafts, dance lessons, and laser tag. Through the Harrison Friday Night movie series, students select either a cult classic or a newly released film to watch together. The Harrison Anime Club also meets every Friday evening, as it has since 2001, to welcome all with a shared interest in all things anime. Once a month Harrison hosts house-wide brunches, bringing the broad array of Harrison residents together through their shared love for bagels, fruit, and yogurt.

If you can imagine it, you can build it in Harrison. Harrison boasts the largest staff of student workers ready to help all bring ideas for social interaction into reality. Residents are encouraged to work with staff to create programs of their own design, to present their research through Harrison’s Academic Work-in-Progress series, create a partnership between Harrison House and the various groups and activities in which they participate to co-sponsor events.
“TO BE RATHER THAN TO SEEM”

From top to bottom, Rodin is full of opportunity. At the top of the high rise, our Rooftop Lounge hosts event and study space surrounded by a view that can only be described as breathtaking. Downstairs in the House Office and Resource Room, you will find helpful student staff along with a host of amenities to make your life in Rodin more comfortable. Throughout the building are quiet study spaces for individuals or groups to utilize, and the basement level hosts two music practice rooms.

Rodin offers a variety of opportunities for students to engage with interests beyond a classroom setting. Our Residential Programs include TRAC (The Rodin Arts Collective), Jewish Cultural Studies, and the Leadership Residential Program. You could take part in a discussion hosted by the Rodin United team. A popular past event was “Gentrification in West Philadelphia and Penn’s Role”. The #rodinCARES team provides programs to support balance in the life of our residents. Another great way to get involved is House Council, a student governing board that works to improve the Rodin experience.

Every other Tuesday, stop by the lobby for Tower Hour, our bi-weekly study break. Join us for Rodin_24, a dinner and discussion series. Keep an eye out for other great Rodin activities such as Sunday Brunch, Sophomore Snacks, and Monday Morning Mirth.

We cannot wait for Rodin to be a part of your University of Pennsylvania story.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION FOR RESIDENTS

Offices like College House Computing, the Penn Video Network, and Dining Services all work together to provide for the needs of College House residents and create a high-quality living environment that encourages intellectual and social pursuits.
RESIDENTIAL SERVICES INFORMATION

FIRST YEAR STUDENT HOUSING & DINING POLICY

The College Houses are unique residential communities for Penn undergraduates that connect the academic life of the University to the residential experience. They foster smaller, intimate communities that students call home and from which they are supported in pursuing their academic goals and in navigating the complexities of university life. The College Houses provide academic and personal support to residents and promote social interaction, engagement, accountability and leadership within a setting that honors the diverse needs and backgrounds of the Penn community. The College House experience is a central component of a student’s successful transition to and mastery of the rigors of university life at Penn. To support our undergraduates in their academic and personal endeavors, and to engage them with each other and the larger Penn community, we require all first-year, transfer and exchange students* to live on campus and participate in a meal plan during their first year of enrollment.

TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF UNIVERSITY HOUSING

By accepting admission to Penn you are agreeing to live on campus your freshman year and abide by the Terms and Conditions of University Housing. Rent and College House fees will be charged and payable each semester through your Student Financial Services account. Please review the Terms and Conditions available at www.upenn.edu/housing. Fall room change applications are available on September 25-26, 2017; mid-year change applications are available on November 9-10, 2017.

SPECIAL HOUSING NEEDS

Students who are requesting medical accommodation because of a serious condition or disability should complete and submit the Request for Housing Accommodation form. The form is available online at http://www.vpul.upenn.edu/lrc/sds/cs_documentation_guidelines.php. Accommodation decisions are made by Student Health Services and Student Disabilities Services. If approved, assignments will be based on medical need and may not necessarily accommodate personal preferences. Students with disabilities are invited to self-identify and should do so early to provide sufficient time to accommodate needs. If you wish to self-identify or have questions, contact the Office of Student Disabilities Services, Weingarten Learning Resources Center, 3702 Spruce Street, Suite 300, Philadelphia PA 19104-6027, 215-573-9235 (Voice); 215-746-6320 (TDD); 215-76-6326 (Fax).

GENDER NEUTRAL HOUSING

Gender Neutral Housing is available in all College Houses and Sansom Place. This option allows students to indicate that they prefer to be assigned without regard to gender. Students who request Gender Neutral Housing will only be assigned roommates that make this same request. If you select Gender Neutral Housing you may or may not be assigned with a student of a different gender; the assignment is made gender-blind. If a gender neutral roommate assignment cannot be made, students will be matched with someone whose birth gender is the same as theirs. While Gender Neutral Housing is an option available to all students, anyone under 18 years of age prior to moving into housing must submit written parental consent. Gender Neutral Housing also allows you to request a specific friend of a different gender as a roommate. Both students must request Gender Neutral Housing and follow the instructions on the application.

TRANSGENDER AND INTERSEX STUDENTS

Penn values diversity and recognizes that transgender and intersex students may have particular needs in their living environment. Students are welcome to contact the Assignments Office to discuss available options that best support their need for a safe and comfortable housing arrangement.

PLANNING AHEAD: MOVE-IN, WINTER BREAK, MOVE-OUT

All occupancy dates, room change, move-in, winter break, and move-out information can be found at www.upenn.edu/housing. To facilitate the large volume of move in arrivals, students are assigned a move in time slot, which is communicated to them early in the summer. It may be helpful to know that all of our College Houses with the exception of Hamwell, Harrison, and Rodin, close for winter break the day after the last scheduled final exam.

BEYOND THE FIRST YEAR

For students who are just thinking about starting their college experience, it may seem early to think about second year housing. The fall semester is filled with making friends, adjusting to academic expectations, and discovering all Penn has to offer. However, by mid-fall, you will begin hearing about next year’s Room Selection process, off-campus options, and Greek life, and you’ll need to start thinking about what is next for you. We highly encourage sophomores to live on campus and to continue to enjoy the rich community environment offered by our College Houses. Typically, 65% of the sophomore class chooses to do so. During, junior and senior years many students assume leadership positions in the House and may find more meaning and appreciation for their relationships with faculty and staff who are their neighbors. Juniors and seniors may apply to be a Resident Advisor, a highly rewarding experience which includes room and board. Information about the Room Selection process is posted online toward the close of the fall semester. There are numerous information sessions and informational e-mails before and throughout the process. We strongly encourage you to discuss options and costs with your parents prior to room selection. Penn’s housing selection process has three sequential options, all of which are completed online at myhomeatpenn.upenn.edu early in the spring semester. Students can apply with their friends to live in a Residential Program, return to their same College House (In-House process), or move to another College House (Inter-House process). Returning to your same College House offers the best opportunity to secure housing and a preferred room type within the House. For the In-House and Inter-House processes, students apply and select their rooms themselves, giving them greater control over specific location and room type. While housing is not guaranteed, Penn makes every effort to provide housing for all students who want it. Students who are flexible with their housing choices usually can be accommodated. For those students who decide to move into the local neighborhood, Penn’s Office of Off-Campus Services provides resources and assistance with the housing search. Information and an online listing of available apartments and houses are available at www.upenn.edu/offcampusservices.
Services for Residents

College House Computing

Every College House is linked to the Internet by a high-speed network connection. Both wired and wireless connections are available in all student rooms and House public spaces. The enthusiastic College House Computing staff hires and trains students to be Information Technology Advisors (ITAs) in the Houses. ITAs provide convenient support for their fellow residents, and can help with almost any computer question, from diagnosing hardware problems to software support and getting connected to the network. There are currently 11 residential computing labs, some with late night hours, and over 40 additional collaborative learning spaces using the latest technologies in every House supported by a professional staff. Computing spaces are equipped with the most-up-to-date software and hardware, including wide-screen monitors, multimedia software, 100MB connections, high quality scanners, and laser printers. For more information, or if you are interested in joining the ITA staff (applications are online in April), see www.rescomp.upenn.edu. Many students find tablet style devices to be an easy way to take notes and to check email. Although the capabilities of these mobile devices continue to improve they should not be considered as a replacement for a desktop or laptop computer. You will find that completing your academic work will require more than the tablet device can offer. If you have questions regarding what device may be best for you please review the information at rescomp.upenn.edu/getready.

College House Information Centers

The Information Centers in each House – usually in the reception areas – are operated by the Department of Residential Services. They are a vital part of each College House, and offer daily services including guest passes, lock out keys, vacuum cleaner and moving cart loans, and support with maintenance issues. It is a 24-hour emergency center and a useful hub of information for residents and guests.

Dining

While freshmen and transfer students are required to have a Dining plan, Penn Dining believes that food service is much more than simply providing sustenance. Dining cafés are gathering places for students and faculty and an integral part of the campus experience. Breaking bread together helps create a sense of community and comfort. Bon Appétit takes great care to cook food from scratch with fresh seasonal ingredients, serve a wide variety of menu items at each meal, create great tasting and nutritious food prepared especially for vegetarian, vegan and international diners, provide friendly customer service and a warm, welcoming environment, all while making socially responsible purchasing decisions regarding produce, meat, seafood, eggs and coffee. In addition to the four all-you-care-to-eat residential dining cafes, Bon Appétit offers a wide variety of retail locations, including kosher options at Falk Dining Commons; Tortas Fronteras @ ARCH in the renovated ARCH building; Starbucks and Gourmet Grocer in 1920 Commons; Beefsteak, Pure Fare, and Houston Market in Houston Hall; Mark’s Café in Van Pelt Library; Accenture Café in the Towne Building; Joe’s Café in Steinberg- Dietrich Hall; and the campus Farmer’s Market. For more information, visit www.upenn.edu/dining.

PVN CABLE TV NETWORK

Penn Video Network, the University’s closed-circuit campus television system, gives College House residents the best of basic Standard and HD programming, with over 60 channels accessible in each student room and lounge. PVN also offers two 24-hour movie channels that show the latest releases, original independent movies, and even films that Penn professors use as part of their curricula. Additionally, all on-campus residents have access to the core XFINITY on Campus digital streaming service from Comcast. For technical specifications and other information on Penn Video Network, visit the website at www.upenn.edu/video.

GREEN LIVING

The Green Living Certification, offered through Penn’s Green Campus Partnership, provides all College House residents with an opportunity to reflect on their environmental impact and to recognize the importance of their daily, individual decisions on the University’s Climate Action Plan. Students can apply to receive their Gold, Silver, or Bronze certification by filling out the Green Living survey, which asks students questions related to recycling, energy, waste, water, transportation, purchasing, and involvement at Penn. Certified students earn a sticker to post outside their room and rewards to local campus restaurants.

HOUSING ASSIGNMENTS AND ROOM CHANGES

The Housing Assignment process, including room changes, is managed by the Department of Residential Services. Special room change periods are available each September, November, and January. Room change information can be found at http://cms.business-services.upenn.edu/residential-services/applications-a-assignments/room-change-information.html.

MAINTENANCE AND HOUSEKEEPING

Housekeeping is provided seven days a week (excepting holidays) for all common areas in the Houses, such as corridors, lounges, lobby areas, laundry rooms, and shared bathrooms. Maintenance is provided to individual rooms and public spaces as requested, as scheduled by the University, or in response to emergencies. To request routine repairs to your room or floor, use the work order website (AiM) at www.collegehouses.upenn.edu/request. Contact your information center for follow-up on requests and for additional help. Emergency facilities issues should be called in 24 hours a day at 215-898-7208.

OTHER SERVICES AND AMENITIES

• Free washers and dryers for resident use, with the ability to check the status of your laundry via the internet
• Mail and package service are provided in-House by Penn Mail
• All College House rooms are furnished by the Department of Residential Services

COLLEGE HOUSE EXPECTATIONS, POLICIES AND SERVICES

Residential communities are an integral component of the educational mission of the University of Pennsylvania. College Houses provide an opportunity for Penn students, faculty and staff to live and learn together as a community of scholars. It is the responsibility of each member of the community to observe standards of conduct that permit other residents to live in and maintain a safe, secure environment that is conducive to academic and personal success.

College Houses are actively engaged in the process of encouraging the development of responsible citizens and healthy communities. Responsible membership in a community – citizenship – requires that all members of the community learn to express their individuality as well as to understand and consider the impact that expression has on others. A positive sense of community develops only when individuals assume responsibility to work towards the successful participation of all members.

Essential to this process is each resident’s responsibility to openly communicate with other members of the community.

College House staff provides support through relationships that focus on care and concern and through the maintenance of clear boundaries for appropriate and safe behavior. These boundaries are important because they encourage predictable environments and ensure that individual behavior does not interfere with the legitimate rights of other members of the community. Students can gain personal insight and learn the responsibilities of citizenship by being held accountable for their own behaviors.

All University of Pennsylvania students and guests are expected to adhere to the College House Policies and Terms of Occupancy, as well as all University rules and regulations that students and guests are charged to know and observe. No system of standards can fully address in specific fashion all possible situations that arise. When these standards do not address specific behavior, students are expected to conduct themselves with a spirit of social responsibility and respect for the rights and needs of others. Behavior that violates the spirit of College House Policies and Terms of Occupancy may be addressed, as appropriate to the context and circumstances of the behavior.

A complete listing of College House Policies and Terms of Occupancy appears in a variety of printed and web based materials produced by College Houses and Academic Services and the Department of Residential Services. These materials include but are not limited to the College House annual brochure, Residential Handbook, web based materials and the Penn Book. A summary of existing regulations appears in this section. New or modified rules will be publicized as warranted.

DEFINITION OF TERMS

College Houses: Any university owned and operated residential facility defined as a College House.

Common Areas: Any area in a College House outside of a student room, suite or apartment such as: community bathrooms, kitchens, lounges, study areas, program specific areas, hallways, stair towers and elevators.

Student Room: Includes bedroom and living areas within a room or suite or apartment. Kitchen, bathrooms and living rooms associated with suites or apartments are considered part of the student room.

HEALTH AND SAFETY

The safety and security of all students in residence is of utmost concern to the University and it is expected that all residents adopt reasonable safety habits. As a result of this concern, the University has taken a number of actions. Security personnel monitor entry to all College Houses twenty-four hours each day during building occupancy. All residents and guests must pass through a security portal to gain access to residential areas. All live-in College House staff members undergo training in safety and security policies and support the efforts of the Department of Public Safety to educate students in-residence about campus safety. Members of the Department of Public Safety conduct a number of residence hall safety programs throughout the year from regular fire drills to programs that discuss crime prevention and crime reporting procedures.
As members of a community, each individual has a responsibility to ensure that safety hazards are eliminated, fire equipment is maintained and established fire procedures are followed. Students who by the virtue of their behavior toward themselves or other residents show an inability to live in a group setting, refuse intervention, and/or endanger themselves or others in any manner may be asked to leave the College House community immediately.

IMPORTANT SAFETY TIPS

- Keep the door to your room, suite or apartment locked at all times. If your lock does not work, report it immediately to the House Information Center.
- If you live in a ground floor room keep your window closed and locked when you are not in your room. If your window does not work properly, report it to the House Information Center.
- Do not leave your personal belongings in any common areas.
- Report any suspicious activity or person to your RA, GA, the House Information Center or Campus Public Safety.
- Always lock your bicycle to one of the storage racks and register your bicycle with Public Safety.
- Provide insurance coverage for your items either through family homeowners insurance or through renter’s insurance.
- The following policies are general College House guidelines and a point of reference for using space or engaging with the House communities.

CHALKING POLICY

Residents and student groups are permitted to advertise via chalk art on flat horizontal surfaces at the entrances to the College Houses (sidewalks, steps, patios, etc.) with the following restrictions:

- All chalking must occur in uncovered locations only so rain can serve as a cleaning agent.
- All vertical surfaces are off limits for chalk art (including such spaces as upright walls, brick exteriors, or University signage.)

CONFERENCE HOSTING POLICY

Due to the academic and personal needs of residential students, College Houses only permits guest hosting for events sponsored through the Office of Admissions (examples include Quaker Days and athletic overnights). Normally, these events occur only once in the fall and spring semester and extend over a two to three day period. Other University departments or student organizations wishing to host conferences or special events should consult with Hospitality Services or the Office of Student Affairs.

RESIDENTIAL EVENT ACCESSIBILITY AND ACCOMMODATION POLICY

The University of Pennsylvania seeks to ensure that students and guests with disabilities have appropriate access to events hosted in the College Houses, regardless of sponsor. College Houses are committed to this goal and are available to work with any program event sponsor or student.

College Houses working with the Weingarten Learning Resource Center employ a variety of ways to provide accessibility to residence hall events. Some methods of accommodation include provision of technology, personal assistance, or, where programs or activities initially are scheduled in physically inaccessible locations, by relocation. When scheduling an event, please contact the specific College House office to ensure that the space you are using will meet the needs of those needing accommodation.

Individuals seeking accommodations in order to participate in a College House event, or who have questions about the accessibility of a College House event, should contact the College House where the event is scheduled or the sponsor of the event. They are encouraged to provide as much advance notice as possible so that there is sufficient time to provide accommodation or to relocate an event.

POSTING AND FLYERING POLICY

This policy covers posting within the Penn College Houses. Posting elsewhere in the University is covered by the University Poster Policy. Posting on floors or in lobbies requires the approval of each House Office. Postings and notices in these areas are reserved for the College House, CHAS, Residential Services and Facilities. Any exceptions to this may only be granted by College House staff.

If interested in posting on floors or in lobbies, you have three options:

Option #1
Bring the following number of flyers or posters to the appropriate House Office for posting by staff:

- Du Bois: 8
- Fisher Hassenfeld: 24
- Gregory: 12
- Harrison: 24
- Harnwell: 24
- Hill: 17
- Kings Court English: 16
- New: 10
- Riepe: 22
- Rodin: 24
- Stouffer: 13
- Ware: 25

Option #2
Bring 234 posters to the CHAS Central Office in Stouffer Commons for dissemination to all House Offices. The front desk will pass on the items.

Option #3
Open posting by students and groups is available only in certain locations and on designated public boards:

- Du Bois: upper lobby bulletin board
- Gregory: no open posting at this time
- Hill: no open posting at this time
- Kings Court English: boards facing mailboxes on first floor; board near bike rack; boards on ground floors facing elevators
- High Rises (Harnwell, Harrison, and Rodin): residential floors including roof top lounge on the designated side of the elevator bays
- New: dining center bulletin board
- Quad (Fisher Hassenfeld, Riepe and Ware): all exterior (courtyard) bulletin boards
- Stouffer: no open posting at this time
A few general guidelines:

- Leafleting under doors and soliciting are prohibited within all residences.
- No more than one or two copies of a poster may be placed on an open board and should be promptly removed when information is outdated.
- Posters should not exceed the size of 11 x 17 inches.
- Posters may not be placed on top of existing posters.
- Posters must clearly identify the organization or event sponsor.
- Posting is not allowed in stairwells and elevators.

Think before you post. College Houses defend the right of free speech and expression on campus and actively promotes the civil exchange of ideas. In the spirit of the latter aim, students are urged to reconsider creating and distributing posters or flyers containing material or language that could be construed as malicious toward or dangerous to other responsible members of the University community.

Unauthorized posters may, at the discretion of residential staff, be removed. In all cases, the above policy will be implemented within the framework and spirit of the Code of Student Conduct, which defines the general rights and responsibilities of student citizenship in the Penn community, and where appropriate, the Charter of the University of Pennsylvania Student Disciplinary System, which sets forth the processes for disciplinary action against students and organizations. Pursuant to the Code of Student Conduct (Sec. III.d), “the content of student speech or expression is not by itself a basis for disciplinary action,” and no posters shall be prohibited or restricted solely on the basis of their content, except when they may violate other applicable laws or regulations.

RESIDENT ROOM ACCESS RESPONSIBILITY

Residents are responsible for their own PennCards and, when issued, their brass keys. They should not share keys or PennCards with another individual or duplicate their keys for any purpose. Residents should be aware of the whereabouts of their keys (if applicable) and PennCards at all times.

LAUNDRY POLICY

- Laundry rooms are for resident use only. Non-residents found using House laundry rooms could be fined up to $250 or be banned from the House for the duration of the academic year.
- Residents should monitor their laundry’s progress either in person or online at www.laundryalert.com.
- Remove all clothes from washers and dryers as soon as they are finished. Clothing left in machines may be removed by residents or staff. The House is not responsible for these items.

Clothing left for an unreasonable length of time may be confiscated by the House and donated to charity.

RESERVING COLLEGE HOUSE SPACES

Indoor Spaces

To reserve spaces within the College Houses such as seminar rooms, rooftop lounges, dance and/or music practice rooms, contact the individual House Offices directly.

Outdoor Spaces

Usage of Hamilton Village outdoor spaces (for small and large scale events), including courtyards, lawns, walkways and green spaces that surround and/or are adjacent to the College Houses where residents may expect a reasonable amount of noise control, requires permission of the central College House office (CHAS).

To seek permission to stage outdoor events in spaces near the College Houses, contact the CHAS Space Reservation Committee at 215.898.3131 and ask for Lisa Harris (lharris@upenn.edu). You can see a list of available green spaces by visiting the website.

Note: Contact the appropriate House Office to reserve outdoor spaces directly attached to a House like the courtyard in the lower Quad, Stouffer patio, lifted-lawn at New, or Mayer backyard.
COLLEGE HOUSES COMMUNITY BEHAVIORAL EXPECTATIONS

The Department of Residential Services and the Office of College Houses and Academic Services collaborate to produce an annual Residential Handbook. The Residential Handbook is a reference for living on campus in Penn’s residences. It is not all-inclusive and incorporates all rules of the University and Department, including those published in all University, College House and Residential Services communications and websites.

The Residential Handbook provides the policies, rules and regulations required for living safely and productively in a Penn residential community. These policies are designed to ensure a pleasant, safe, and equitable residential living experience.

SELF-CONDUCT POLICIES

Compliance with University Staff
All Penn students and their guests are expected to adhere to requests made by any University staff member performing his/her duties (including House Deans and Faculty, RA, GA, desk staff, custodial or Facilities staff or Residential Services staff).

Residents are expected to provide honest and accurate information in their interactions with University staff members.

Disruptive Behavior
No resident should engage in behavior that interferes with or compromises the personal safety or well-being of another. Behavior unsuitable for residential living, including, but not limited to, any practice that limits residents’ rights of equal use and access to room/suite/hall facilities, is not permitted. Residents should also not engage in conduct that is disorderly.

Email Communication to Residents
Email is one of the main methods used by College Houses and Residential Services to communicate with residents.

Residents are expected to check their Penn email of record on a regular basis and, when prompted, respond to University officials by email in a timely manner.

Noise
All on-campus residences adhere to 24-hour Courtesy Hours.

Courtesy Hours serve as a reminder to all residents of the primary rights to sleep and study within residential communities. Residents are expected to exercise courtesy when playing music or participating in other activity that may disrupt other residents and/or interfere with the attempts of others to study.

Quiet hours are in effect at the following times: 11:00 p.m until 9:00a.m. on weekdays (Sundays through Thursday) and 1:00 a.m. until 9:00 a.m. on weekends (Friday and Saturday). Quiet hours are in effect at all times during reading days and finals.

Privacy
All residents are encouraged to communicate clearly their needs regarding privacy matters with roommates and floor mates. All residents should respect personal privacy within their student rooms and bathroom facilities. Students who violate an individual’s privacy by entering their room without permission or invade their privacy within bathroom facilities will face disciplinary action that may result in their removal from their residence.

Soliciting and Use of Space for Business
Residents, Visitors, and Guests may not conduct or solicit commercial business in the residential buildings. This includes leafleting under room doors and unapproved marketing efforts.

Vandalism
Residents, Visitors, and Guests are responsible for all costs related to intentional or negligent damage of University property within residential buildings.

POLICIES INVOLVING SUBSTANCES

Alcohol Related Behavior
All residents are expected to show support for community members by addressing concerns that may arise from substance use/abuse. College Houses and Residential Services supports and expects adherence to established University policies, as well as state and federal laws regarding use of alcohol and other drugs.
The consumption of alcohol in building common areas (such as floor lounges, seminar rooms, and hallways) is strictly prohibited without prior approval from the House Dean or Sansom Manager.

Drugs
All residents are expected to show support for community members by addressing concerns that may arise from substance use/abuse. College Houses and Residential Services supports and expects adherence to established University policies, as well as state and federal laws regarding use of other drugs and narcotics.

Smoking
Smoking is not permitted in any University-owned residential facility or within 20 ft. of any University building.

SAFETY AND SECURITY POLICIES

Access to Residences
The security of our communities is central to the comfort and academic success of our residents. Security, however, is a shared responsibility. Residents must play their part by observing security procedures and practices, in consideration of their neighbors and classmates and in order to minimize personal harm or loss. Abuse of security staff, vandalism of security equipment, and misuse of exterior building doors and locks will not be tolerated and will result in disciplinary action.

Endangering Behavior
Any action of a Penn student, resident or guest that may lead to physical harm to oneself or others is considered endangering behavior and will typically result in removal from housing, disciplinary action (including cost of repair and/or cleaning) and/or criminal charges. Such acts include but are not limited to:

- Fire Safety: arson, tampering with or damaging fire safety equipment (including covering smoke detectors), blocking egress or failing to evacuate.
- Building Safety: tampering with safety signs or equipment, tampering with wiring or Internet hard wired or wireless devices, installation of partitions or lofts.
- Careless use of appliances or materials that may endanger oneself or others.
- Thrown objects: throwing any object from windows, roofs, ledges, etc. is dangerous and prohibited.
- Unauthorized entry into any student room or other locations where students are not provided access.
- Using or possessing firearms, explosives, and other highly flammable materials or other lethal weapons as prohibited in University residential facilities.

In situations when an individual or group poses an immediate threat to the health, safety or property of others or of oneself the individual or group may be relocated or removed from housing prior to a hearing to address the specific behaviors. The decision to remove or relocate rests with the Executive Director of College Houses & Academic Services, Director of Residential Services (for Sansom Place) or designee.

Fire and Emergency Safety
Residents are expected to comply and familiarize themselves with the Fire and Emergency Safety procedures of the University. Compliance includes properly evacuating, following the instructions of emergency personnel, and not damaging, tampering with, or blocking fire safety equipment. Additionally, residents should not place furniture or items in any halls, fire exits, or otherwise block any other means of egress. Residents who fail to comply with any of the above are subject to fines and disciplinary action. For more information, residents should consult the sign on the back of their room/apartment door or visit the Fire and Emergency Services website.

Guests and Visitors
Guests are defined as individuals who are not currently enrolled University of Pennsylvania students. Visitors are defined as currently enrolled University of Pennsylvania students who are not assigned to the room, suite, or apartment that they are visiting.

- Hosts must check with their roommates, suitemates, or apartment mates for approval before inviting a guest or visitor to the room. If the other occupants of the space do not approve, the guest or visitor cannot stay in the room.
- Hosts are responsible for the actions of their guests or visitors and will face disciplinary action if their guest or visitor violates College House, Residential Services, or University policies. Hosts should familiarize their guests or visitors with community expectations. Visitors are also responsible for their actions and are subject to disciplinary action.

- Guests and visitors are allowed to visit in a student room, suite, or apartment for a period not to exceed three days and two nights during a two-week period.
- Visitors are unable to sign into residential buildings between the hours of 2:00 a.m. and 8 a.m. Hosts will need to sign in all visitors during this time period.
- A guest or visitor may not occupy a student’s room when the student is not present and a resident may not supply a room key to gain access to the room or their PennCard to gain access to the building.
- Guests must sign-in with a photo ID and must be accompanied by a host at all times. This host must carry a valid PennCard and guests must keep their ID with them at all times.
- Each visitor must present his or her own valid PennCard. Visitors may not sign in other visitors or guests at any time.
- At no time may guests or visitors sleep in a common area within a College House.

Hall Sports

Sports or recreational activities that may cause damage to property or disruption or injury to others are not permitted.

PennCard

Residents are required to carry their University of Pennsylvania ID Cards (PennCard) at all times per University policy. PennCards are used to access College Houses and also serve as electronic key access to assigned rooms. A PennCard should not be transferred to anyone other than the owner. Residents should be aware of the whereabouts of their PennCard at all times. A PennCard used by anyone other than the owner will be confiscated.

Confiscated PennCards may be picked up at the PennCard Center, located in the University of Pennsylvania Bookstore, during business hours of 8:30am to 5:00pm, Monday through Friday. Lost Penn Cards must be promptly reported to the PennCard Center as well. For more information and policies on PennCards, please visit the PennCard website.

Prohibited Items – Firearms, Weapons, and Volatile Substances

Possession, storage, and/or use of the items below are prohibited in all rooms/apartments:

- Firearms (including but not limited to: air rifles, air soft guns, paint ball guns, pellet guns, pistols, ammunition, gunpowder)
- Dangerous Weapons (including but limited to: clubs, knives not intended for kitchen use, swords, martial arts weapons, etc.)
- Explosives of any kind.
- Hazardous or volatile substances (including but not limited to: solvents, accelerants, degreasers, certain lab chemicals, etc.)

Prohibited Items – Appliances and Equipment

Possession, storage, and/or use of the items below are prohibited in all rooms/apartments:

- Extension Cords. Note that surge protectors are allowed and encouraged.
• Unprotected or unshielded Halogen Bulbs and Blacklights
• Air Conditioners except where provided by Residential Services
• All large appliances (including but not limited to: nonuniversity stoves, washer and dryers, dish washers, refrigerators over 4.1 cubic feet, etc.)
• Space Heaters except in situations where they’ve been installed by Facilities
• Power tools such as saws, drills, drill presses, and jack hammers (unless used by Facilities staff)
• Hoverboards

These items are prohibited in all non-kitchen units:

• Toasters
• Toaster Ovens
• Crock Pots
• Panini Makers/George Foreman Grills
• Electric Skillets
• Hot Plates
• Waffle Irons
• Popcorn Poppers

All appliances must have a manufacturer’s label that shows the electrical ratings and listing by a nationally recognized testing laboratory (e.g., ETL, UL, etc.) The use of surge protectors is strongly recommended to prevent circuit overload.

Prohibited Items – Candles and Open Flames
Possession, storage, and/or use of candles, incendiary devices, and fire producing items (including but not limited to: fuel burning stoves, fuel burning lamps, heaters, and grills) are prohibited. Residents are allowed, however, to possess matches and small cigarette lighters.
Special exception requests to use candles for religious or ritual observance should be referred to the House Dean or Sansom Manager.

Thrown Objects
Throwing any object from windows, roofs, ledges, etc. is dangerous and prohibited.

FACILITY RELATED POLICIES

Common Areas and Usage
The use of residential common areas is restricted to the residential community occupants, their guests/visitors, and University affiliated groups and organizations that have reserved the space through the College House office.

- Students, Guests, and Visitors may not sleep overnight in common areas.
- Common area furniture and equipment must remain in the common room.
- All individuals who use common areas are expected to keep these spaces reasonably clean and orderly for community use.

Out of consideration for all residents, residents or guests using common areas such as kitchens, lounges or recreational space are expected to return the space to the condition in which it was found. This includes cleaning up after preparing and serving food, putting away food items by storing them securely in pest-proof containers, returning furniture to its proper location and set up, and properly disposing of trash. Residents should not leave unattended items in public spaces. Unattended items left in these spaces are subject to disposal by the University.

Although they are University buildings, the College Houses and their common spaces, amenities, etc. are first and foremost intended for the use by on-campus residents. This includes on-campus residential laundry facilities, which are to be used solely by on-campus residents.

Electrical Circuit Overload
Residents found to be consistently overloading circuitry (tripping breakers) through use of appliances or other electrical equipment will be required to reduce their electrical usage. Residents are also encouraged to use surge protectors as a means to further protect electrical equipment.

Fixtures and Locks
Residents are encouraged to keep their exterior room or apartment doors locked at all times. Residents are not allowed to damage, hinder the proper use of, or make changes to any locks or fixtures associated with their rooms or apartment. Residents cannot add fixtures or locks to any doors, walls, or other surfaces within their apartment.

Pets
Pets are not permitted in residences, except for fish of a size that can be appropriately kept in an aquarium not larger than 20 gallons. All roommates must agree upon the presence of an aquarium. Other pets are not permitted for several reasons: they pose potential health problems; they can cause destruction of University property; and they can be disruptive to other residents. “Visiting” pets are not permitted. Violations of the policy will carry the following potential sanctions:

- Residents will have 48 hours from first being contacted by a University official to permanently relocate the animal to an off-campus location.
- Residents will incur a $50 per day fine each day beyond the first 48 hours.
- Repeat offenses will result in the immediate and permanent loss of housing privileges and the forfeiture of any potential rent refund due under the normal rent refund policy.

For information on Services and Assistance animals, please see University policies on Medical Accommodations.

Posting and Flyers
In addition to the details of the posting and flyering policy, all notices and signs posted in College Houses must clearly state the name of the responsible organization and be posted only on designated bulletin boards. No such notices should be placed on interior or exterior doors, windows, or elevators. Flyers may not be placed under student room doors. Any student or organization found in violation of these policies may face fines and disciplinary action. Additional posting policies and information are posted on each College House web site.

Resident Room Access Responsibility
Residents are responsible for their own PennCards and, when issued, their brass keys. They should not share keys or PennCards with another individual or duplicate their keys for any purpose. Residents should be aware of the whereabouts of their keys (if applicable) and PennCards at all times.

Room Cleanliness and Upkeep
As responsible members of a larger community, residents are expected to maintain reasonable standards of cleanliness and order within their rooms as a means to discourage pests. Over the counter pesticides do not solve pest issues. They only move the pests elsewhere and potentially put any roommates or neighbors with chemical allergies at risk.

Residents are also expected to return their rooms to a reasonably clean condition when they move out, including disposing of all trash and non-university furniture from their spaces.

Residents who fail to properly maintain, clean, or clear their apartments or rooms will be subject to disciplinary action, including fines and cleaning costs.

Residents will be assessed fines for any damage that occurs in their rooms during the school year, including any damage done to walls in the hanging of decorations within their spaces. All roommates are held responsible for the condition of all of the space within their rooms or apartments.

Unauthorized Access to Spaces
Residents and their guests or visitors are prohibited from the following:

- Using emergency exits for any reason other than an emergency.
- Using or being found on any roof, portico or other architectural feature not designed for recreation or functional use.
- Using or being found in an unauthorized area.

Unauthorized areas include students’ rooms that are not theirs, mechanical rooms, housekeeping closets, steam tunnels and other similar locations.

Any resident and their guest or visitor found in violation of this prohibition will be subject to fines, any damage caused by their action and disciplinary action. Residents, visitors, and guests are not permitted to place any items in any unauthorized area. The University assumes no financial or legal responsibility for any student, guest, visitor, or property as a result of such actions.

Unauthorized Movement of Furniture
Residents are required to keep all assigned room furniture within their rooms for their period of occupancy. Missing furniture or furniture found in the hallway, a lounge, a common space, or any other space other than its original room or apartment will result in fines and potential disciplinary proceedings. Furniture removed from halls, even by the University, will be treated as “missing” for the purposes of post-move-out charges. Student room furniture cannot be “stored” or otherwise placed into lounges. Furniture placed in lounges is subject to being removed by the University and will be treated as “missing” for the purpose of post-move-out charges.

Window Stops
Residents may not tamper with window stops where they exist.

IMPORTANT UNIVERSITY POLICIES

Policies in the Residential Handbook have been designed to address concerns specific to residing in a College House. The College House system and Residential Services adheres to and/or refers when necessary to the following University policies:

- Alcohol and Drug – includes Medical Amnesty
- Code of Student Conduct
- Code of Academic Integrity
- Discrimination
- Fire Safety and Emergency Services
- Hazing
- Information Systems & Computing (ISC)
- Sexual Violence, Relationship Violence and Stalking
- Sexual Harassment
COLLEGE HOUSE CONDUCT PROCESS

The Office of College Houses & Academic Services and Residential Services supports and expects adherence to the University of Pennsylvania Code of Student Conduct and to all local, state and federal law, as well as, regulations related to residential living. Behavior that violates these standards, laws and regulations may be grounds for disciplinary action by the College House Office or Residential Services. A House Dean or Sansom Place Manager will most likely address possible residential policy violations. Addressing these possible violations may include an informal conversation, a more formal administrative hearing, or referral to a House Discipline Committee. Any of these means of addressing a violation may result in sanctions being issued to residents.

The Executive Director, Directors of College Houses, or Director of Residential Services may hear cases that are more serious or are specific to their areas of responsibility. In most instances, e-mail should be used only for logistical purposes and should not be used as a substitute for meeting and discussing an alleged violation with a staff member.

Students can expect fairness and due process from staff in addressing alleged violations. Failure to comply with a sanction will be considered as a further violation of standards and may result in additional, extended or more severe sanctions.

Violations of standards or other misconduct should be reported to the College House or Sansom Place staff for investigation and follow-up. The authority to investigate and to respond to violations is delegated to House staff (House Deans, Residential Advisors, and Graduate Associates) at the direction of the Executive Director, Directors of College Houses, and the Director of Residential Services. In all cases an attempt will be made to resolve a dispute or alleged violation by reaching voluntary agreement. Repeated misconduct, serious offenses and offenses by non-residents may be referred to the Executive Director and Directors of College Houses, Director of Residential Services, or to the Office of Student Conduct. In addition, criminal activity in the College Houses and Sansom Place is subject to criminal prosecution.

COLLEGE HOUSE CONDUCT PROCESS OUTLINE

- Staff person becomes aware of a possible violation of standards.
- Student is notified via email that they are potentially in violation of a standard and a meeting is requested.
- Meeting is held to hear the student’s perspective and to ascertain responsibility.
- Student is notified via email of determination of responsibility and sanction, if appropriate.

RIGHTS AND OBLIGATIONS

A student against whom an allegation of violation is made has the following rights and obligations:

- The right to be notified within a reasonable time of the complaints against them.
- The obligation to cooperate with any investigation of complaint, including the obligation to appear to be interviewed by College House administrative staff, Residential Services staff or other University officials or boards.
- The right to know the nature of any pertinent information against them.
- The right to confidentiality of information.

SANCTIONS

The following sanctions are normally issued separately or in combination for violations; sanctions are accumulative and apply to a student’s length of stay in College Houses:

Residential Warning
This sanction is typically imposed for minor violations. A warning basically puts a student on notice and provides an opportunity to address and/or change behavior in future situations. Repeat behavior could then result in additional and retroactive sanctions.

Educational Sanctions
Educational sanctions are used for students in situations where they would benefit from further learning about their behavior or...
from completing a project that allows them to contribute positively to their community. Examples of such sanctions include: community service, organizing a program, doing a survey, attending a presentation, or similar projects.

Required Move
Some situations may warrant moving a resident to a new location, either for their own benefit or for the benefit of their residential community.

Restitution
Residents who cause damage or vandalize University property will typically be expected to pay restitution.

Fines
Fines will be imposed for some violations as deemed appropriate based upon circumstance.

Restriction of Privileges
Some situations may warrant a restriction of privileges, such as guest privileges or restriction from entering a specific College House.

Referral to a University Resource Office
Students who need additional professional assistance may be referred to any number of University offices or resources.

Parental Notification
Some situations warrant a call to a parent or guardian to discuss a student’s behavior and the impact of that behavior upon other residents.

Residential Probation
This sanction is typically imposed for more serious violations of standards, as well as for repeated or multiple minor violations. Probation includes the potential for restriction of various College House privileges and serves as a final notice wherein future violations could result in removal from Housing.

Removal from Housing
Removal from housing is a sanction that typically is used for serious violations of standards including endangering behavior, theft, and significant damage to property and for students who repeatedly violate policies and show no signs of changing behavior.

Referral to the Office of Student Conduct (OSC).
The College House conduct system is designed to be internal to the House system. When situations advance in severity, a House may refer a case to OSC. Cases opened by OSC may result in serious outcomes attached to a student’s permanent record at Penn. OSC may also remove a student from housing.

NOTE: In situations when an individual or group poses an immediate threat to the health, safety or property of others or oneself, the individual or group may be relocated or removed from University housing prior to a hearing to address the specific behaviors. The decision to remove or relocate rests with the Executive Director of College Houses or in his/her absence one of the Directors of College Houses or, for Sansom Place, the Director of Residential Services.

Penn has been building a vigorous on-campus community since it was founded more than two centuries ago. After the Civil War, Penn moved to its present campus in West Philadelphia, and under the visionary direction of Provost Charles Custis Harrison, a vast, turreted complex of interlocking dormitories called The Quadrangle began to be constructed on Spruce Street. The present-day Quad, an architectural and historical landmark, comprises three College Houses: Fisher Hassenfeld, Riepe, and Ware, all bearing the names of Penn’s distinguished alumni. In the post-World War II era of expansion, Penn turned to the famous Finnish architect Eero Saarinen to design a dormitory for women at 33rd and Walnut Streets which today is the co-ed Hill College House, re-opening this fall after a year off for major renovations. The buildings that are now called Stouffer College House and Kings Court English College House were also built or acquired at this time, and vehicular traffic was banned in the so-called “super block” stretching from 38th to 40th Streets between Walnut and Spruce Streets. This enabled the development of a park-like setting presided over by a trio of skyscraper dormitories — Harnwell, Harrison and Rodin College Houses — with low-rise buildings, W.E.B. Du Bois and Gregory College Houses, framing the surrounding lawns. In 2017, Penn opened New College House, the first residential complex designed from the start to accommodate the broad scope of intellectual, cultural and social activities that are the hallmarks of the College House communities.
